

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

NIKOMI MARIE S.,

Plaintiff,

v.

COMMISSIONER OF SOCIAL SECURITY,

Defendant.

NO. 2:21-CV-0173-TOR

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT'S
MOTION FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT

BEFORE THE COURT are the parties' cross-motions for summary judgment (ECF Nos. 21, 22). This matter was submitted for consideration without oral argument. The Court has reviewed the administrative record and is fully informed. For the reasons discussed below, the Court DENIES Plaintiff's Motion and GRANTS Defendant's Motion.

JURISDICTION

The Court has jurisdiction pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 405(g).

STANDARD OF REVIEW

A district court's review of a final decision of the Commissioner of Social Security is governed by 42 U.S.C. § 405(g). The scope of review under § 405(g) is limited: the Commissioner's decision will be disturbed "only if it is not supported by substantial evidence or is based on legal error." Hill v. Astrue, 698 F.3d 1153, 1158-59 (9th Cir. 2012) (citing 42 U.S.C. § 405(g)). "Substantial evidence" means relevant evidence that "a reasonable mind might accept as adequate to support a conclusion." Id. at 1159 (quotation and citation omitted). Stated differently, substantial evidence equates to "more than a mere scintilla[,] but less than a preponderance." Id. (quotation and citation omitted). In determining whether this standard has been satisfied, a reviewing court must consider the entire record as a whole rather than searching for supporting evidence in isolation. Id.

In reviewing a denial of benefits, a district court may not substitute its judgment for that of the Commissioner. Edlund v. Massanari, 253 F.3d 1152, 1156 (9th Cir. 2001). If the evidence in the record "is susceptible to more than one rational interpretation, [the court] must uphold the ALJ's findings if they are supported by inferences reasonably drawn from the record." Molina v. Astrue, 674 F.3d 1104, 1111 (9th Cir. 2012). Further, a district court "may not reverse an ALJ's decision on account of an error that is harmless." Id. An error is harmless "where it is inconsequential to the [ALJ's] ultimate nondisability determination."

1 Id. at 1115 (quotation and citation omitted). The party appealing the ALJ's
2 decision generally bears the burden of establishing that it was harmed. Shinseki v.
3 Sanders, 556 U.S. 396, 409-10 (2009).

4 FIVE STEP SEQUENTIAL EVALUATION PROCESS

5 A claimant must satisfy two conditions to be considered "disabled" within 6 the meaning of the Social Security Act. First, the claimant must be unable "to 7 engage in any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determinable 8 physical or mental impairment which can be expected to result in death or which 9 has lasted or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than 12
10 months." 42 U.S.C. § 423(d)(1)(A). Second, the claimant's impairment must be 11 "of such severity that [he or she] is not only unable to do [his or her] previous 12 work[,] but cannot, considering [his or her] age, education, and work experience, 13 engage in any other kind of substantial gainful work which exists in the national 14 economy." 42 U.S.C. § 423(d)(2)(A).

15 The Commissioner has established a five-step sequential analysis to 16 determine whether a claimant satisfies the above criteria. See 20 §
17 404.1520(a)(4)(i)-(v). At step one, the Commissioner considers the claimant's 18 work activity. 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520(a)(4)(i). If the claimant is engaged in 19 "substantial gainful activity," the Commissioner must find that the claimant is not 20 disabled. 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520(b).

1       If the claimant is not engaged in substantial gainful activities, the analysis
2 proceeds to step two. At this step, the Commissioner considers the severity of the 3 claimant's impairment. 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520(a)(4)(ii). If the claimant suffers
4 from "any impairment or combination of impairments which significantly limits
5 [his or her] physical or mental ability to do basic work activities," the analysis
6 proceeds to step three. 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520(c). If the claimant's impairment
7 does not satisfy this severity threshold, however, the Commissioner must find that 8 the claimant is not disabled. Id.

9           At step three, the Commissioner compares the claimant's impairment to 10 several impairments recognized by the Commissioner to be so severe as to 11 preclude a person from engaging in substantial gainful activity. 20 C.F.R. § 12 404.1520(a)(4)(iii). If the impairment is as severe or more severe than one of the 13 enumerated impairments, the Commissioner must find the claimant disabled and 14 award benefits. 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520(d).

15           If the severity of the claimant's impairment does meet or exceed the severity
16 of the enumerated impairments, the Commissioner must pause to assess the 17 claimant's "residual functional capacity." Residual functional capacity ("RFC"), 18 defined generally as the claimant's ability to perform physical and mental work
19 activities on a sustained basis despite his or her limitations (20 C.F.R. § 20 404.1545(a)(1)), is relevant to both the fourth and fifth steps of the analysis.

1 At step four, the Commissioner considers whether, in view of the claimant's
2 RFC, the claimant is capable of performing work that he or she has performed in 3 the past ("past relevant work"). 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520(a)(4)(iv). If the claimant is 4 capable of performing past relevant work, the Commissioner must find that the 5 claimant is not disabled. 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520(f). If the claimant is incapable of 6 performing such work, the analysis proceeds to step five.

7 At step five, the Commissioner considers whether, in view of the claimant's
8 RFC, the claimant is capable of performing other work in the national economy.
9 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520(a)(4)(v). In making this determination, the Commissioner 10 must also consider vocational factors such as the claimant's age, education and 11 work experience. Id. If the claimant is capable of adjusting to other work, the 12 Commissioner must find that the claimant is not disabled. 20 C.F.R. § 13 404.1520(g)(1). If the claimant is not capable of adjusting to other work, the 14 analysis concludes with a finding that the claimant is disabled and is therefore 15 entitled to benefits. Id.

16 The claimant bears the burden of proof at steps one through four above.
17 Tackett v. Apfel, 180 F.3d 1094, 1098 (9th Cir. 1999). If the analysis proceeds to 18 step five, the burden shifts to the Commissioner to establish that (1) the claimant is 19 capable of performing other work; and (2) such work "exists in significant

1 numbers in the national economy.” 20 C.F.R. § 404.1560(c)(2); Beltran v. Astrue,
2 700 F.3d 386, 389 (9th Cir. 2012).

3 ALJ’S FINDINGS

4 On November 13, 2018, Plaintiff protectively filed an application for Title II
5 disability insurance benefits, alleging an amended onset date of February 14, 2018.
6 Tr. 18. The application was denied initially, Tr. 106-08, and on reconsideration, 7 Tr. 112-16. On October 9, 2020, Plaintiff appeared at a hearing before an 8 administrative law judge (“ALJ”). Tr. 40-77. On July 24, 2015, the ALJ denied
9 Plaintiff’s claim. Tr. 16-39. On January 27, 2017, the Appeals Council denied 10 review. Tr. 1-7.

11 As a threshold matter, the ALJ found Plaintiff met the insured status 12 requirements of the Social Security Act through December 31, 2018. Tr. 20. At 13 step one of the sequential evaluation analysis, the ALJ found Plaintiff had not 14 engaged in substantial gainful activity from February 14, 2018, the alleged onset 15 date, through December 31, 2018, the date last insured. Tr. 21. At step two, the 16 ALJ found Plaintiff had the following severe impairments: degenerative disc 17 disease of the cervical spine with neck pain, low back pain, and hip pain, systemic 18 lupus erythematosus, Sjogren’s disease, Sicca syndrome, and biliary cirrhosis. Id.
19 At step three, the ALJ found Plaintiff did not have an impairment or combination 20 of impairments that meets or medically equals the severity of a listed impairment.

1 Tr. 22. The ALJ then found Plaintiff had the RFC to perform sedentary work with 2 the following limitations:

3 [W]ith normal breaks, the claimant can lift up to 10 pounds occasionally;
4 stand or walk for about two hours per eight-hour workday; sit for about six 5 hours per eight-hour workday; and would need a sit/stand option, defined as 6 changing from a sitting position to a standing position or vice versa every 30 7 minutes, if needed, for up to five minutes while remaining at the 8 workstation. The claimant can never climb ladders, ropes, or scaffolds; can 9 only occasionally climb ramps and stairs; and can only occasionally stoop, crouch, kneel, and crawl. In addition, the claimant is limited to reaching bilaterally overhead, behind the back, and to full extension on a frequent basis, as well as handling and fingering bilaterally on a frequent basis.
Finally, the claimant should avoid all exposure to extreme cold, extreme heat, and extreme wetness and humidity, as well as all use of moving or dangerous machinery and exposure to unprotected heights.

10 Tr. 23.

11 At step four, the ALJ found Plaintiff was capable of performing past relevant 12 work as a night auditor. Tr. 26. Alternatively, at step five, the ALJ found that, 13 considering Plaintiff's age, education, work experience, and RFC, there were other 14 jobs that existed in significant numbers in the national economy that Plaintiff could 15 perform through the date last insured. Tr. 27. The ALJ concluded Plaintiff was 16 not under a disability, as defined in the Social Security Act, from February 14, 17 2018, the alleged onset date, through December 31, 2018, the date last insured. Id.

18 On March 19, 2021, the Appeals Council denied review, Tr. 1-6, making the 19 ALJ's decision the Commissioner's final decision for purposes of judicial review.
20 See 42 U.S.C. § 1383(c)(3).

ISSUE

Plaintiff raises the following issue for the Court's review:

Whether the ALJ properly weighed the ARNP Gina Hjorth's medical opinion evidence.

ECF No. 21 at 2.

DISCUSSION

A. Medical Opinion Evidence

Plaintiff challenges the ALJ's evaluation of ARNP Gina Hjorth's medical opinion. ECF No. 21 at 7-18.

10 For claims filed on or after March 27, 2017, new regulations apply that 11 change the framework for how an ALJ must evaluate medical opinion evidence.
12 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520c; see also Revisions to Rules Regarding the Evaluation of 13 Medical Evidence, 2017 WL 168819, 82 Fed. Reg. 5844-01 (Jan. 18, 2017). The 14 ALJ applied the new regulations because Plaintiff filed her Title II claim after 15 March 27, 2017. See Tr. 26.

Under the new regulations, the ALJ will no longer “give any specific evidentiary weight . . . to any medical opinion(s).” Revisions to Rules, 2017 WL 168819, 82 Fed. Reg. 5844-01, 5867–68 (codified at 20 C.F.R. pt. 404). Instead, an ALJ must consider and evaluate the persuasiveness of all medical opinions or prior administrative medical findings from medical sources. 20 C.F.R. §

1 404.1520c(a)-(b).

2       The factors for evaluating the persuasiveness of medical opinions and prior
3 administrative medical findings include supportability, consistency, relationship 4 with the claimant, specialization, and “other factors that tend to support or 5 contradict a medical opinion or prior administrative medical finding” including but 6 not limited to “evidence showing a medical source has familiarity with the other 7 evidence in the claim or an understanding of our disability program’s policies and 8 evidentiary requirements.” 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520c(c)(1)-(5).

9       The ALJ is required to explain how the most important factors,
10 supportability and consistency, were considered. 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520c(b)(2).
11 These factors are explained as follows:

12       (1) Supportability. The more relevant the objective medical evidence and 13 supporting explanations presented by a medical source are to support his 14 or her medical opinion(s) or prior administrative medical finding(s), the more persuasive the medical opinions or prior administrative medical finding(s) will be.

15       (2) Consistency. The more consistent a medical opinion(s) or prior 16 administrative medical finding(s) is with the evidence from other medical 17 sources and nonmedical sources in the claim, the more persuasive the medical opinion(s) or prior administrative medical finding(s) will be.

18 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520c(c)(1)-(2).

19       The ALJ may, but is not required to, explain how “the other most persuasive
20 factors in paragraphs (c)(3) through (c)(5)” were considered. 20 C.F.R. §

1 404.1520c(b)(2). However, where two or more medical opinions or prior 2 administrative findings “about the same issue are both equally well-supported . . .
3 and consistent with the record . . . but are not exactly the same,” the ALJ is 4 required to explain how “the most persuasive factors” were considered. 20 C.F.R.
5 § 404.1520c(b)(3).

6 These regulations displace the Ninth Circuit’s standard requiring an ALJ to 7 provide “specific and legitimate” reasons for rejecting an examining doctor’s
8 opinion. Woods v. Kijakazi, 32 F.4th 785, 787 (9th Cir. 2022). As a result, the 9 ALJ’s decision for discrediting any medical opinion “must simply be supported by 10 substantial evidence.” Id.

11 Here, the ALJ found Ms. Hjorth’s opinions to be of little relevance and 12 unpersuasive. Tr. 26. First, the ALJ noted Ms. Hjorth’s opinions (Tr. 641-644, 13 686-689, 698-700) are dated subsequent to Plaintiff’s date of last insured and do
14 not purport to address the time period under consideration. Id. Second, the ALJ
15 found the opinions did not address whether Plaintiff’s functional capacity changed
16 since the prior ALJ decision, which was the focus of the opinion due to the prior 17 ALJ opinion denying Plaintiff benefits. Id.

18 Plaintiffs asserts the ALJ failed to evaluate Ms. Hjorth’s opinions under the 19 new regulations. ECF No. 21 at 10-17. The decision considered the supportability 20 and consistency of Ms. Hjorth’s opinions. As to supportability, the ALJ noted that

1 the 2019 opinions were prefaced on medical evidence collected after the period of 2 disability ending in 2018, which therefore lacked any explanation of relevance to 3 the period of disability. Tr. 26; 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520c(c)(1). As to consistency,
4 the ALJ compared Ms. Hjorth's 2018 treatment notes for hand pain with Plaintiff's
5 activities of daily living (i.e., Plaintiff found it "difficult not to work on things" for 6 her new house). Tr. 25; 20 C.F.R. § 404.1520c(c)(2). The Court finds the ALJ
7 adequately evaluated Ms. Hjorth' opinions under the new regulations, and the 8 finding was supported by substantial evidence.

9 CONCLUSION

10 Having reviewed the record and the ALJ's findings, this Court concludes the 11 ALJ's decision is supported by substantial evidence and free of harmful legal error.

12 ACCORDINGLY, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

- 13 1. Plaintiff's Motion for Summary Judgment (ECF No. 21) is DENIED.
14 2. Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment (ECF No. 22) is 15 GRANTED.

16 The District Court Executive is directed to enter this Order, enter judgment
17 accordingly, furnish copies to counsel, and CLOSE the file.
